Blast Government On Importation Of Girl Refugees

Federal Immigration Policy Attacked In Five-Hour Debate in Commons

OTTAWA, June 2 (CP)—A searing attack by Opposition members on Federal immigration policy brought three Cabinet ministers to the defensive ramparts in the Commons today and tonight in a five-hour debate—ranging about the importance of 100 Polish girl workers to the textile mills of a Quebec Liberal member of Parliament.

Members of the three major Opposition parties joined in blasting the arrangement for importing the girls as a form of "indentured labor"—one of them charging they were going into "slavery" and the Government priorited with a heavy-artillery defence in Labor Minister Mitchell, Reconstruction Minister Howe and External Affairs Minister St. Laurent.

Other Liberals remained silent except for a running fire of interjections at the attacking Opposition members, while the Liberal cronies of the battle—Ludger Dionne, of Beauce, Que.—was not in the House during the debate.

Storm-centre of the debate was Mr. Dionne's arrangement with the Federal Government under which he went to Europe and selected 100 Polish girl workers from displaced persons' camps for his textile mills at St. Georges de Beauce, Que., where the girls were to work two years under a contract calling for withholding of 20 per cent of their weekly pay until they repaid the price of their passage.

The longest and hottest debate of its kind of the present session was exploded by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, in a motion to set aside the normal business to discuss the labor import question as a matter of "urgent public importance."

Besides the two critisizing Opposition members and three defending ministers, the silent speaker was Anthony Hlynka (SC—Vegreville), who split with his party leader, Solon Low, to defend the program.

The only woman member of the House, Mrs. Gladys Strum (CCF—Qu'Appelle), was defended the action of Mr. Dionne as serving in a manner to relieve European distress, but rapped the Government charge for allowing a private industrialist to do its work.

Most bitter criticism of the Beauce scheme came from Angus MacInnis (C.C.F.—Vancouver East), who declared the Polish girls "have actually gone into slavery."

The Federal ministers declared the girls would have the protection of the Canadian Immigration law, which guaranteed them two years' employment, and the Canadian labor laws, which would give them a decent standard of living.

While replying to the Opposition charges, Mr. St. Laurent announced further arrangements were being made to bring 1,600 workers to Canada for mining and logging camps, and he said other provisions for the transfer of more workers from Europe would be announced.

A caustic demonstration of the more came during the night session from John Diefenbaker (P.C.—Lake Centre), who learned it a form of "voluntary slavery" under which the Polish girls had to buy their freedom in "the seven of the brow" under a two-year period in which they would repay their transportation.

Mr. Diefenbaker wanted to know why a cabinet minister had told the House, April 23, there was no information on the matter. In reply to a question, when the order in council authorizing Mr. Dionne's action had been passed April 1.

It's been so long that anyone has been "nice" to them that the girls say they cannot get used to being treated his people." Here, Bronislawa Premlak examines one of 400 dresses in readiness for them Langlaner tuffers are being served from Montreal for the refugees. Many of them still bear the marks of German maltreatment, are greatly interested in food at the present time.

Fresh Start in New World—Polish Girls Arrive

These pictures of some of the Polish girls brought to this country for work in the Dionne spinning mills were taken as the party arrived at St. Georges de Beauce, Que. In this scene one of the girls, helped by Joe Pelaquin, superintendent of the plant (left), steps out of the plane while J. A. Adams, general manager (right), looks on.

Two of the girls, slightly bewildered at their reception, but happy to be in Canada—a striking contrast to Europe's rubble-strewn areas, are shown as they were on their way to the restroom to "pretty up" after the trying trip. The arrival of the girls signalled bitter debate in the House of Commons yesterday.

Seamen Call Strike Vote

90,000 Members Across Country

NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—Possibility of another major Maritime strike arose today with the announcement of the C.I.O National Maritime Union of a strike poll among its 90,000 members.

The N.M.U. seamen were asked to ballot on whether they would walk out in support of new contract demands or to support other unions which the M.U. said might be locked out by ship owners.

The union said its new demands might include wage and overtime increases, the 40-hour week at sea, extended vacations, increased manning scales, health and welfare funds and improvement in working rules and living conditions. Present monthly pay for ship seamen is $125.

The group which the N.M.U. said might be locked out June 15, are two West Coast C.I.O unions—the Marine Cooks and Stewards and the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

Joseph Curran, N.M.U. president, said no exemptions would be permitted in the event of a strike this year. Union seamen were allowed to sail on vessels carrying food and other relief supplies abroad during the strike-bound last year.

The vote will be taken at 40 unions basis in East, Gulf, West Coast, Great Lakes and river ports, in Puerto Rico and Honolulu, and on ships at sea.

Expect Indian Leaders To Accept British Plan

Attlee to Make Statement in Commons Today Creation of Independent State for Pakistan

NEW DELHI, June 2 (CP)—Leaders of the Moslem League and the predominantly Hindu Congress Party were reported reliably tonight to have accepted a secret British compromise plan, presented to them earlier in the day by the Viceroy, calling for a partitioning of India.

Details of the British proposal, handed to seven Indian leaders at a momentous conference with Viceroy Viscount Mountbatten, will be read tomorrow over all Indian radio stations, a British communique announced. A London announcement said Prime Minister Attlee will make a statement to the House of Commons on India at 2:30 p.m.

The very fact that the plan will be made public indicated that the major Indian parties either had accepted it or would do so by tomorrow.

Reliable informants said the proposals which Britain would surrender its powers and withdraw from India within the next 18 months, provided for the creation of an Independent State of Pakistan, as demanded by the Moslem League.

However, India would be divided in such a way that Sikh and Hindu minorities in the predominantly Moslem provinces of Bengal and the Punjab would not be included in the Pakistan area.

This represented a compromise between the Congress Party, which wanted a United India, and the Moslem League, which wanted all of Bengal and the Punjab to be embraced in Pakistan.

Britain was understood to favor, then, an undivided India, but to have proposed the compromise as an alternative.

A Reuters dispatch from New Delhi said that M. A. Jinnah, Moslem League leader, who called on the Viceroy late Monday night, said he far as he was concerned the plan was workable and acceptable.

Mohandas K. Gandhi, veteran ascetic Nationalist leader who is resolutely opposed to partition, told his prayer meeting Monday night "The time is fast coming when India will have to elect its first president of the Republic that is coming into being."

Pair Robs Messenger In Elevator

Most of $107,000 Haul Non-Negotiable

PORTLAND, Ore., June 2 (AP)—Two gunmen held up an armed messenger on the fourth floor of a department store here today and escaped with a haul of more than $107,000 in cheques but only $304 in cash.

Captain of Detectives James Purcell reported guard Albert J. Curtis said he got into an elevator with the money bag and the two men stepped in the car behind him.

Purcell quoted Curtis as saying

"As they entered they pulled guns and ordered me to face the other way at the elevator operator. One grabbed my gun out of the holster and then took the money bag. They then ordered me out of the elevator and told me to keep quiet."

John A. Crowes, 60, the elevator operator, said the two men then ordered him to drop the elevator directly to the basement, leaving from a nearby street entrance.

R. L. Childs, store general superintendent, said the bag contained two $50,000 cheques to cover the weekly payroll, but that the cheques were non-negotiable All others were stamped with the store's endorsement, which could be considered negotiable

Report Russian Leaders Plotting Balkans Bloc

BELGRADE, June 2 (AP)—Persistent but unconfirmed reports circulated in Belgrade today that Premier Georgi Dimitrov of Bulgaria was en route here.

High Yugoslav officials said they had no knowledge of the reported visit here of Molotov or other high Russian officials or of the imminent signing of a Balkan bloc.

The only concrete fact which would lend any credence to allegations that Dimitrov was in Belgrade was the fact that the Bulgarian railroad yards of a Belgrade suburb unexpectedly refused car, such as has not been seen here since high-ranking Bulgarians attended the All-Slav Congress last December.

Some sources said the presence of Molotov and Dimitrov in the capital of Premier Tito dominated with another unconfirmed but widely circulated rumor that a Balkan federation would be formed which would include Albania and Bulgaria, which is a part of Greece as an autonomous state under Tugoslav control.

Close Island Bridge After Defect Found

Clamorous demands of the Jordan River over rock and bridge cause will again be heard in the Legislative Buildings following the emergency closure on Sunday and Monday of the Sandstone Creek Bridge

Immediate result was to close the road to traffic and block high school and elementary students from their schools.

The bridge was open again late yesterday after temporary repairs and will be reopened to normal traffic within 48 hours. Permanent repairs will be made later, the Public Works Department announced.

The people of the area will ask an investigation into the action of the Government in spending "hundreds of dollars on repairs to the bridge last Winter when it was defective" It was reported by P. G. Strachan, secretary of Sooke School District No. 62, who talked to many of the residents.

There was no alternative route for traffic during the closure, but travellers between Sooke and Jordan River were able to cross the bridge on foot.

According to Mr. Strachan, the defect admitted by the Public Works Department was found accidentally by a Shirley logging contractor walking up the ravine After he notified provincial police, the bridge was closed until Works Department officials examined the structure and confirmed the claim. Mr. Strachan said.

He said emergency repairs were carried out by a C.P.R. crew under Government supervision This was the second occasion since Christmas that vehicular traffic had been cut off, according to the school secretary. The previous occasion, he said, was on the Muir Creek Bridge

The school bus was unable to leave Monday morning, Mr. Strachan said, with the result that high school students from Jordan River, Shirley, Muir Creek and Otter Point attended classes. Elementary students from Shirley were also isolated.

Sandstone Creek is about 1½ miles from Jacobs Creek Bridge, scene of the accident which claimed the lives of six Sooke High School students months ago, when the car in which they were returning from a basketball game crashed through the guardrails.

Department of engineers who inspected the bridge yesterday morning said there was no danger of collapse but the bridge had been closed a public safety measure. They described the cause as a defect at the end of one of the trusses

Chain Of Death Holds Mystery

SOUTHPORT, Lancashire, Eng., June 2 (AP)—A mysterious chain of death that enmeshed Dr. Robert Clements and his four wives claimed a new victim today

The four wives died during a period of 21 years, starting in 1928

Three days ago Dr. Clements, 67, was found dying

Today the pathologist who performed an autopsy on Dr. Clement's fourth wife was found dead in his bathtub. The circumstances were unexplained and an immediate inquest was opened.

The pathologist, Dr. James Honston, examined the body of the fourth Mrs. Clements last Wed. after police halted her funeral. About that time Dr. Clements, a Southport physician, was found dying in the luxurious apartment from which Mrs. Clements, 47, was being buried

W. H. Lloyd, chief of the Criminal Investigation Department, listed Clements' wives as PELHAM MANOR, N.Y., June 2 (AP)—Jesse Wilford Reno, 85, inventor of the escalator more than a half century ago, died today. Reno's first escalator was an inclined endless belt with cleats which first was installed in a Third Avenue elevated station in mid-town New York.

Food Crisis Due to Failure of Crops

NEW DELHI, June 2 (Reuters)—India's hunger, which has been intensified by the failure of the rice crop in stocked since 1942 when a fat and oil shortage in Burma cut off rice from Southeast Asia was cut off, is emptying fast.

The country is heading towards a food crisis which not even one of the most efficient rationing administrations in the world can stave off unless the trickle of grain shuffle is enough to keep the wolf within the next few months.

The 150,000,000 people now regarded for rainfall, cannot be sustained and six ounces for children are threatened with a cut.

Millions are eating bird seed and coarse grains that have never been in their diet for the last 30 years

Here are the only facts about India's food situation, which is spiralling downward at a rate that is time last year:

The wheat crop, a failure due to rust, is down more than 2,000,000 tons.

The rice crop harvested in December is 1,000,000 tons up on the previous year but no improvement on normal over the last five-year period.

Only 800,000 tons of the 1,700,000 tons of food grain promised India by the International Emergency Food Council for June, July and August this year have so far been delivered

The annual prewar import of 2,000,000 tons of rice from Burma, Siam and French Indo-China has stopped.

The population is increasing at the rate of 5,000,000 a year.

About 200,000 tons of wheat seed is urgently needed for the next harvest.

Supplies are so short in the wheat-growing areas that a maximum of 10 ounces of wheat of the daily ration of 12 ounces is actually available.

Sweltering In Britain

LONDON, June 3 (CP)—London is sweating it out today.

The temperature is soaring and Old Man Weather's is blame.

Sweltering in a heat wave for more than a week, Londoners today had the guilty satisfaction of knowing that it really was as bad as it seemed.

Records 90 years old were broken by thermometers at both suburban Kew Gardens and atop the Air Ministry.

At Kew, the unprecedented figure for June of 86 degrees was reached while the Air Ministry went one better, to 90. This was one degree more than the Ministry's previous June high, reached June 22, 1941.

Reports from across Central and Western Europe indicated the same heat wave in force.

Paris Meteor experts frost. Last night the thermometer fell 43 degrees.

British newspapers featured the hot spell on their front pages and showed pictures of girl salesgirls in flying eras on the roofs of their office buildings Where the rain came from in rationed Britain which indicated Cooler weather was predicted for tomorrow.

City Council Approves in Principle Plans to Lease Hall Site for Hotel

Approval in principle was unanimously given by the City Council yesterday to a proposal for leasing the City Hall site to a group interested in constructing a 450-room hotel.

Action by the Council followed a report by Ald. Edward Williams of negotiations carried on with the group.

If a definite agreement is reached suitable to the City Council, the proposal will be submitted to a vote of ratepayers at the December elections. The city would have to vacate the present City Hall and move into temporary quarters pending erection of a new City Hall.

Here are the details of the proposal which received Council approval:

The City Hall site is to be leased at $1 a year for 99 years.

The lessees are to form a company with a capital of not less than $50,000, with accomodation to include 400 rooms. A portion of the building may be used for any other lawful purpose the company desires, including stores.

Five years taxes are to be paid in advance, less the regular 4 per cent allowed on advance payments, or a cash sum of $586,000

If the by-law is passed by the ratepayers, possession of the site is to be given ten weeks after the next regular legislature by the Legislature first year.

The company is to deposit $20,000 with the city before any further negotiations are carried on, and to deposit $60,000 with the city 30 days before the annual elections the year.

The company will demolish the present City Hall and take all salvage from the City Hall, including furnishings.

The hotel building is to be designed with a "supersructure—or tower

An option is to be given for the sale of the site to the company at the end of ten years, the price being set by agreement or by arbitration.

Ald. Williams stated that the $384,000 advance tax payment would be used to construct a new City Hall. He stated, however, that no plans for the new structure would be made until the hotel proposal is put before the ratepayers. While a new building is being constructed, he suggested, the administration might occupy temporary quarters in the city-owned Duck Block.

Area By-Laws Are Puzzling

Two major by-laws mixed with four municipalities is still presenting the City Council with a complicated situation.

Basing through amendments presented by the municipal solicitor, politics in giving his approval to the industrial by-law, the City Council gave the by-law third reading

After this action was taken, it was suggested that the school by-law might not be ready for June 15 the date set for voting on the transit by-law.

Because a vote by ratepayers must be taken not less than ten days nor more than 21 days after third reading the council when passed a motion rescinding the third reading

Members of the council stated voting on the two by-laws should be held on the same date, regardless of when the date was set.

Monday Ruled "Must" Holiday Only in Public Buildings, Banks

Monday next, the day set aside for official observance of the King's birthday, will be a holiday for public buildings and banks.

But other employers will be required to grant the holiday unless they have made provision for it in collective bargaining agreements. Even for school children Monday would not be a holiday if school boards decided not to make it one.

Labor Department officials yesterday clarified the application of Dominion and Provincial orders in council that have caused widespread confusion among employers and employees in various occupations.

They pointed out that the Dominion order proclaiming June 4 a holiday has no jurisdiction over provincial industrial and business establishments. The holiday would be observed only if the Act is proclaimed under the Factories Act and Shops Regulation Act.

That action has not been taken so far by the British Columbia Government, and while a last-minute proclamation could still be published in this week's Gazette it was learned yesterday that the Government does not propose to extend the application of the holiday beyond the general proclamation issued some weeks ago.

Birthday of King George VI actually falls on December 14, and the Dominion and Provincial proclamations were necessary to set aside June 8 as the day for official celebration of the event.

Trans-Canada Highway System Urged Rather Than One Route

OTTAWA, June 2 (CP)—A trans-Canada highway system embracing at least two highways across the Prairies and through the Rockies to Vancouver and Prince Rupert, B.C., was urged today by a four-man delegation from the Prairie provinces for both "strategic and commercial reasons."

They met a cabinet delegation headed by Trade Minister MacKinnon, member for Edmonton West, who promised consideration of their views, presented in a 1,000-word brief signed by mayors and boards of trade of eight towns and cities.

The delegation urged establishment of a commission on highway development and called for the laying down of a Federal policy for the Trans-Canada Highway.

It consisted of Mayor H. D. Hanley and Commissioner John Hodgson, of Edmonton, Mayor A. W. Macpherson, of Saskatoon, and W. Brandile, of Moosejaw, Sask., and their brief also contained the names of the mayors of Prince Rupert, Russell and Yorkton, the Boards of Trade of Blue River and Minnedosa and the Jasper Park Chamber of Commerce.

The four men, representatives of the Trans-Canada Highway Square Association, Yellowhead route, will have tomorrow for Toronto.

They said they had met various Government officials on local matters earlier today but had no comment.

Their highway brief argued that, it was obvious "that the planning of a system rather than a single highway is sound and necessary in the building of a future solid economy in the West and to the consolidation of our strategic and commercial positions.

"We have considered that Winnipeg might well become the central fork in such a system. One fork would continue over the southern route to Medicine Hat where another fork would occur, one proceeding through the Crow's Nest Pass and the other through Calgary and the Kicking Horse Pass.

"The northern section would branch off at Winnipeg toward Saskatoon, Edmonton and the Yellowhead Pass. Another fork would occur at Tête Jaune, the southern branch going to Vancouver and the northern to Prince Rupert."

The brief said the Yellowhead route, largest the central and most populous and expanding area of the territories covered on the Prairies. The future expansion of Alberta and Saskatchewan must take place in the northern districts.

Meanwhile, another group has been urging development of the southern route through Regina and Lethbridge and has prepared a brief for presentation to the Government.

This brief, prepared by Mayor J. A. Jardine, of Lethbridge, in conjunction with mayors and boards of trade in 19 towns and cities, said the route across the southern sections of the Prairies, through Crowsnest Pass and southern British Columbia "is the most natural, most logical and most sensible route for Canada's first trans-continental highway."

Dive Gives Bear Aluminum "Hat"

NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—A two-year-old Polar bear cub frolicking in a Bronx zoo pool before several hundred spectators, made a sharp dive in the direction of a floating aluminum keg and hit the target with such force that its head pierced the thin sheeting.

Scrambling out of the water with the keg placed in the pool to enliven the water antics of the animals, the cub clawed blindly at the cylinder about its head for an hour before zoo attendants were able to remove it—and then, undaunted, plunged back into the pool.

Repatriated Japanese Would Return

VANCOUVER, June 2 (CP)—Scores of Japanese repatriated from British Columbia want to return to Canada, said Lt.-Col. Claire Orr, who has returned home from a 14-month stay in Japan as head of the Canadian war crimes liaison detachment.

"They all want to return to Canada," said Col. Orr today in an interview.

The reason: No steady jobs, not enough food, general misery in their postwar homeland.

One, a former Japanese-language newspaper editor in Vancouver, now is detained on the beaches of Japan and "and telling people how well he was treated to an interview" during this war.

Col. Orr said that all Canadian prosecutions of Japanese war criminals have been completed.

Fifty were dealt with—40 in Tokio under United States court procedure, and ten in Hongkong in British courts. All ended in convictions.

"We didn't enter any prosecution unless we had very strong evidence against the accused.

Seven were sentenced to death and four to life imprisonment. The others got prison terms, ranging from three to 40 years.

Ending one of the longest careers on a Canadian railway, R. H. M. Temple, K.C., consulting counsel, Canadian National Railways, has retired at Montreal under the system's pension rules. His retirement, after more than 41 years' service, was announced yesterday by N. J. MacMillan, general counsel, CNR.

Tudor Minstrel Odds-On Choice In Epsom Derby

LONDON, June 2 (CP)—Tudor Minstrel, classy color-bearer for J. A. (Jacky) Dewar, one of Britain's leading whisky merchants, tonight remained a hot favorite for the June 7 Derby with bookmakers at the Victoria Club quoting him at the near-prohibitive price of 11 to 10 on.

Most backers were scared off by the short odds and heavy wagering centred about the Maharajah Gaekwar of Baroda's Sarajitha at 8 to 1 against and the King's unbeaten, and virtually untested—Blue Train at 10 to 9.

There was little reason for betting against The Minstrel, runaway winner of the Two Thousand Guineas and his five other starts, on the form book. His backers argued that the colt, bred by a Derby winners and boasting two Derby-winning grandsires, wouldn't need to stay one and a half miles Derby Day if he could open up a lead like the one he enjoyed at five furlongs in the Guineas.

Twenty-one horses are entered.

Jockey Gordon Richards still has a problem on his hands—whether to ride the Dewar or the Royal entry. He'll not decide until next week.

Sarajitha is the question mark. He's improved every time out, but finished eighth and a half lengths behind The Minstrel in the Guineas and they not yet have achieved Columbia and will be placed in the class of the Newmarket victor.

Radical Change In Ford Model

KANSAS CITY, June 2 (AP)—Henry Ford II wouldn't give details today of the 1948 model Ford to be produced but one of his top officers ventured this far:

"The 1948 model Ford will be as radical a change as was the one from the model T to the model A," said Vice-President John R. Davis.

Ford said at a press conference that the company would have "a whole new line of 1948 cars." Davis declared, however, that "buyers will not see any immediate outward signs in Ford dealer places until 1948 or at least late in 1948.

"They have 1,200,000 orders ahead now," he added, "which is 45 per cent more than in January, 1941."

Holland Claims "Raw Deal" At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, June 2 (AP)—Bill Holland, 30-year-old runner-up in the Memorial Day 500-mile race as the Indianapolis motor speedway said today "It's the hottest deal I ever got as a participant in the event, won by Mauri Rose, of Columbus, prepared to run a $132,000 prize fund.

Holland finished 32 seconds behind Rose, his teammate and co-winner of the 1941 "500." Both Rose and Holland piloted identical four-cylinder monsters built by Lou Moore of Ventura, Calif.

The veteran dirt track driver who led until he received an "EZY" (easy) signal from his pit crew said he did not know he "didn't win the race" until "I pulled into the pits and heard the man on the loudspeaker say, 'Holland second.'"

Moore asserted that he "had no preference" between the speedway veteran Rose and newcomer Holland, adding

"I gave both drivers the EZY signal. There are a lot of rumors going around. I know I'm sorry if there was any misunderstanding. Bill has a wonderful future."

Rose, who grabbed the $20,000 first prize, said at the end of the grind that he won only because the East-ern driver was slowed by engine trouble toward the finish. But Moore said there was no engine trouble and that he meant to signal both drivers because they were in front of the field and he wanted them to complete the race.

Straw Causes Man's Death

MARCHAM, Ont., June 2 (CP)—John Wesley Hodgins, 35-year-old farmer, was drowned late today when a strawstack toppled on him, knocking him into a pool of rainwater. His brother, Tom, and neighbor Howard saw the stack sway and found him face-down in several inches of water. There were no eyewitnesses.

End of Butter Ration Predicted Within Week

OTTAWA, June 2 (CP)—Canadians could expect today to pay more soon for some items as shirts, soap and gloves as the Government took another step in its decontrol program with predictions that another bigger step will be taken shortly, including the end of butter rationing.

The Prices Board announced last night that effective today import subsidies are being reduced on imported cotton and cotton products, birchbile fats used in making soap and some imported leathers.

This, a spokesman said, would eventually be reflected in the retail market by a rise in prices of cotton and rayon products, soap and gloves made from certain leathers. It was probable men's fine shirts will go up 25 cents, soap prices from a cent a bar on toilet soap to 10 cents on a giant-size package of soap flakes, and that prices of gloves made from sheep, goat and kid skins will increase 5 per cent.

It was predicted, meantime, that a bigger list of items—things that could be decontrolled without hardship—was on the way. This announcement, which probably will come within a week or so, may abolish butter rationing.

It was believed the forthcoming announcement would end rationing and price ceilings on such foodstuffs as jams, jellies, ice cream and seasonal products as well as butter. Meals in restaurants, hotels and public eating places are expected to be removed from price ceilings.

In the clothing and household field the announcement is expected to lift controls on such things as women's and children's neckwear, aprons and ruffs, men's underwear, dressing window blinds, floor mops, embroidery, crochet yarns, dress and curtain netting and fireplace equipment.

Raps Mental Institutions Says B.C. Treatment Best

OTTAWA, June 2 (CP)—D. M. LeBourdais, former director of the education division of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene, charged today that approximately 80,000 mental patients in institutions across Canada were crowded into a space hardly big enough for 30,000.

In an address to the Ottawa Rotary Club Mr. LeBourdais said he spoke "for 50,000 fellow citizens of ours in mental hospitals across Canada who have no one to speak for them and restored conditions as he had found them in visits to institutions in various provinces.

In one Saskatchewan institution he said he found "the accumulated neglect of 20 years—men with 180 women all reduced to a common level of deterioration, harassed attendants and a staff that could not make anyone unaccustomed to it sick." Some institutions in other provinces were almost as bad. In New Brunswick he charged some patients were strapped to benches because there were not enough attendants to look after them.

Canada's best provincial hospital was in British Columbia and he said that province was taking the lead in the Dominion in the care of mental patients.

He suggested pressure on mental hospitals could be eased by wider use of new therapy such as insulin and shock treatment.

Legislation Near On Canteen Funds

OTTAWA, June 2 (CP)—establishment of a temporary fund for army veterans and their dependents is expected to be recommended to Parliament within the next few weeks as a climax to study by a special committee of what to do with some $6,000,000 in army canteen funds from the World War.

The committee is understood to have agreed upon its report in camera sessions and to have drafted legislation now in final stage of preparation and consideration. It has recommended that the money be used over a period of years sufficient to span the lifetime of veterans of the last war.

The aircraft will come from all cities of the Pacific Northwest, including Up-Island centres and the British Columbia Mainland.

Vancouver plans are being handled by R. H. Baker, manager of the Vancouver Tourist Association.

Cadboro Bay Postmaster Retires After 31 Years

On just a quiet little eddy off the main stream," Frank V. Hobbs, 84, Cadboro Bay postmaster for 31 years, said last night on the completion of his first official day of retirement.

Operating the Cadboro Bay store and post office at Cadboro Bay and Sinclair Roads since 1916, Mr Hobbs is well known throughout Greater Victoria. He came here in 1889.

His first Summer here he helped lay the West Coast telegraph line to Port Renfrew. After the line was completed he bought a tract of land at Nanaimo, later the site of the Extension Mine. He stayed in Nanaimo for three years, then returned to Victoria where he went into the furniture business.

After 12 years in the furniture business, Mr Hobbs sold out and took his family back to England with the idea of remaining there. However, one year later he returned to Victoria. He went into the timber business on the West Coast for six years and then returned to Cadboro Bay. He became postmaster at Cadboro Bay in 1916. The Hobbs' home, "Mystic Spring," is well known to many visitors to Victoria.

Mr. Hobbs was a two-term councillor for Ward 3, a post now held by his nephew, Len Hobbs. He was vice-president of the British Columbia Branch of the Canadian Postmasters' Association.

Mr and Mrs. Hobbs were childhood sweethearts who grew up together in Bruton, Somerset, and were married in 1886 at Victoria West Methodist Church by Rev. J. F. Hicks.

Chatting about municipal affairs Mr. Hobbs commented: "I've never missed a vote. I've got off a sick bed to cast my ballot at times"

Suggested as Temporary City Hall Quarters

—Colonist Photo

For a definite agreement satisfactory to the City Council and the ratepayers of Victoria is reached on the proposal for a $3,000,000 hotel on the present City Hall site, the city would have to vacate the building and find temporary quarters.

If the housing problem in Canada "is to be quickly and adequately solved" private construction industry "should be given some voice in the administration of the National Housing Act," V. L. Leigh, retiring president of the Victoria Builders' Exchange, said in his annual report to the group last night in the Empress Hotel.

"The Government," he said, "has made a brave attempt to solve the problem, but have found out they cannot do any better than private enterprise."

Mr Leigh urged members of the exchange to take more interest in municipal affairs, and said increased municipal taxation rates were related to cost of building a house, especially one that is paid for monthly over a period of years.

"It was with this thought in mind that we wrote the mayor and City Council of Victoria more than a year ago, suggesting they find out the entire cost of the arena here before starting to build.

"The very allusion we foresaw is developing we are now faced with the problem of an incomplete building with a shortage of some $100,000 necessary to complete the structure, according to the chairman of the arena committee."

"The construction industry today is continued, cannot build and sell at prices people can pay, nor can rental housing be created at rents they can afford."

Construction Industry Voice Urged in Act Administration

In order to find a solution to this situation, costs must decline to a point which will allow owners to assist build, or the Government will have to subsidize building, not only for rental purposes, but for those who wish and are willing to risk their own small savings in a home of their own, he explained.

"The construction industry, second largest in Canada, should assume the role of leadership rightfully its own, and a healthy industry is the keynote of prosperity" he said. "The best and most economical way to build is through our present system of private competitive enterprise."

George H Wheaton was elected president of the exchange succeeding Mr. Leigh, with Walter Luney, vice-president, and W J. Hamilton as treasurer.

Directors included F A. Robinson, J A Pollard and L. G. Bent, general contractors; H. J Langdon, electrical; A H. Davies, flooring; J Barnes, lumber and millwork; C N Mullins, painting; S. J. Ross, plasterers; C. J McDowell, plumbing and heating, W. McKitty, roofing and sheet metal, and D E Smith, supply buyers

Members voted in support of a motion supporting a general shutdown in the industry from July 14 to July 18 to allow workers and employers alike a vacation.

Sale of City Land Declines Sharply

Sale of city-owned lands during May showed a sharp decline compared with the same month last year continuing the trend noted earlier during the year, Ald. R. A. C. Dewar, lands committee chairman, announced yesterday.

Cash receipts, however, continue at a higher level than last year with $150,842 up to the end of May 1947, as against $138,800 in 1946.

Total sales during the first five months this year have dropped to $156,751, nearly $12,000 less than during the same period in 1946.

May sales this year totalled $12,782 as against $40,292 for May last year. Number of sales to date this year, however, stand at 374, or 43 more than last year. May sales numbered 25 as against 53 for May last year.

62-Year Mark Set May 26

An all-time record for warm weather was set in Victoria on May 26, when the thermometer reached 85 degrees. This was the hottest May day in 62 years, according to the weather bureau.

The mean temperature for the month was 56, three degrees above normal. Minimum temperatures of 42 were reached on May 3 and 10. Minimum on the grass was 35 degrees on May 10.

Only .31 inches of rain fell throughout the month of May, which was .75 inches below normal. It said that to date there hadn't been enough persons register for the job Growers this year, he added, are more in favor of a season and give the job as they are more adept at it.

Longer school term this year is liable to cause a shortage of help, especially for the strawberry crop, but the students will be out in time to help with raspberry, loganberry and cherry crops, Mr Smith stated.

Week-end harvest of strawberries was very heavy, but the peak was expected to be reached sometime this week. It was understood

Area To Seek Planning Aid

VIEW ROYAL, June 2 — View Royal Ratepayers' Association unanimously endorsed proposals made by A. G. Graham, supervisor of the regional planning division of the Bureau of Reconstruction, recommending services of the Town Planning Act be applied for immediately, at a meeting tonight in the Community Hall.

Districts of Sooke, Colwood, Langford and Cobble Hill may be asked to take similar action so that the Bureau of Reconstruction will have an area large enough to adequately provide room for necessary zoning.

The entire work will be done by the Government without cost to the public, and an inspector will be appointed to check on all future developments in the territory, it was explained.

Mr. Graham stated that zoning areas are divided into three sections: areas for unrestricted residential, rural, and urban, with 80-foot roads and minimum building lots of 60 by 100 feet, with minimum floor areas of 750 square feet.

Buses to Carry Pickers Today To Saanich Strawberry Farms

First berry pickers (special buses) will leave at 7.30 a.m. today from the bus depot for Saanich strawberry farms, C. M. Smith, assistant supervisor, Dominion - Provincial Farm Labor Service, announced here yesterday.

The buses were expected to leave yesterday but the trip was cancelled because of rain, he said. About 100 pickers will leave today.

Continued need for more pickers has been stressed by Mr. Smith, who said that to date there hadn't been enough persons register for the job

Meanwhile, most fruit growers were not disturbed over the 18 inches of rain yesterday, which, they said, would do the crop more good than harm. Few ripe berries were left over the week-end for the rain to damage

IS THIS A FAIR WAY TO PRESENT THE $8,000,000 WAGE OFFER OF THE COASTAL LUMBER INDUSTRY?

On May 19, in negotiations for a contract renewal with the I.W.A. coastal lumber industry employers made an offer of a 10 per cent general wage increase with minimum increase of 10 cents per hour, based on a 44-hour week. The substantially higher hourly rates proposed would involve the expenditure by the industry during the ensuing 12 months of approximately $8,000,000 more in wages than during the previous 12 months.

On May 26, after taking a week to consider the offer, I.W.A. representatives stated that they would "sound out the feelings" of their membership on the employers' proposals in a union conducted ballot, asking if they were in favor of its acceptance or rejection.

WHAT THE WAGE PROPOSAL MEANS

THE BALLOT DOES NOT PROVIDE FOR SPECIFIC ACCEPTANCE OF THE OPERATORS' PROPOSALS NOR DOES IT STATE THAT EMPLOYERS OFFER A 10 PER CENT GENERAL WAGE INCREASE WITH A MINIMUM RISE OF 10 CENTS AN HOUR.

The second question in the ballot virtually seeks authorization for strike action prior to the completion of negotiations.

This is the same pattern of action that cost employers $8,000,000 in wages and lost the province 300,000,000 feet of timber production in the disastrous 1946 strike. It is against all accepted principles of sound and fair collective bargaining and threatens new disruption to employment and earning power in B.C.

HERE IS THE WORDING OF THE I.W.A. BALLOT:

1. Do you desire your District Policy Committee to reject the employers' counter-proposals and continue negotiations for our Union's 1947 demands?

YES..... NO.....

2. Failing satisfactory concessions to our membership on our 1947 demands, do you authorise our District Policy Committee to call a strike?

YES..... NO.....

For Action

There will be considerable relief in the Greater Victoria community when on June 19 two major issues may be laid before the ratepayers for their decision. Transportation is one, and a consolidated schools building program is the other. Both are of prime importance. A large and representative vote should be polled, so that civic authorities may have a clear cut, decisive answer to both questions. Here, within the public's hand, is action.

The Greater Victoria schools program, while an ambitious one has been shown to be much of a necessity. To take care of the number of children who are attending schools in this rapidly growing area more buildings will have to be provided. The crux of the plan—a technical school, junior high schools, auditoriums, elementary and primary buildings, with some additional accommodation—shows the need most clearly. It is planned to carry the work over the next few years. If the ratepayers assent, proportionately the costs that each municipal area would have to pay.

A noted point in the cost item is that the present cost of transporting children to schools from rural areas amounts to some $4,000 a year. The yearly cost of bringing the pupils to rural district would be less than $3,000, and would diminish over the twenty-year period steadily. In like sense, the program would be an operational saving besides the great value of the accommodation, which is most urgently required. With the entire program all four communities will have Provincial Government help, at the rate of half of the capital cost on ordinary school buildings, and with seventy per cent of the cost of the technical school.

Both issues should be studied, so that an intelligent vote may be given on June 19. Victoria has delayed a long time on its main requirements. Here are two of them coming up for action and in a clear cut form.

Delayed Start

At the base of every nation's internal economy is its agriculture. If that prosperity much else is influenced beneficially. Canada depends upon agriculture for many exports purposes also, so that any condition which affects the man on the soil affects this nation directly. The almost complete absence of Spring actions most of Canada has been a discouraging factor in the new year. Because the ground remained frozen seeding will be late, the crop yeer will be short and it will be a rare to see what harvest can be gathered and brought in.

Canadians living in metropolitan areas may believe that all that has little to do with them. They are likely to discover, however, that it has much to do with them in their individual lives. The manufacturer will be affected in his distributions and sales. Work are employed in diversified lines of production will feel the difference. The business of transportation will be influenced directly. In the difference between a big crop year and a small crop year rests more basic facts about Canada's economy than are to be found in any textbook on the subject.

The hard reality is that, while British Columbia had its normal Spring, much of the rest of Canada did not. Conditions not known for the last fifty years returned in some areas starting with heavy snowfalls and storms, and closing now with extensive floods and a very heavy run off in the main waterways of the land. The farmer at last is getting on to his fields, but the start is late. It will remain to be seen just what the harvest will be. That its result will affect everyone can hardly be denied.

What should be realized throughout this country now is that the weather has dealt us all a severe blow. It is that are added strikes and lock-ups. 1947 will not be a bumper year by any yardstick. It is time for cool heads.

Defence of Silence

The defence of silence is given most credit for the failure of the Japanese bellicose attacks to create the havoc their sponsors expected. The former chief of staff of the United States Western Defence Command has disclosed that absence of reports from this side left the Japanese High Command in ignorance of their effect and caused abandonment of the balloon bomb campaign. Thousands of people throughout the Pacific Northwest knew about the balloons and were charged with taking steps to conceal their landing. It is a great tribute to them that the secret was so well kept.

While made of paper, these balloons were ingenious in character and presented a potential threat because of the fires they might have caused. During the period of 1944 and 1945 about 1,000 of the 9,000 launched from Japan managed to reach this side, and many of them dropped in British Columbia territory. Fortunately the attack was discontinued between June and November when the forest fire season would have made their arrival a more serious matter. Officials and others conversant with the Japanese scheme often wondered why a greater barrage of balloons was not evident that Summer of 1940.

The explanation is that taking reports as to what happened to the balloons, a halt was made to make certain changes, and the attack was finally called off because it was believed to be a waste of time and money. It seems evident, also, that Japanese espionage on this coast must have been ineffectual, otherwise information would have reached Japan and the attack no doubt increased with possibly serious results. Canada and the United States The wisdom of dispersing Japanese residents from the West Coast is thereby shown. It was fine co-operation and, closer mouths that defeated the Japanese plan to set the Pacific Northwest on fire.

Fine Mission

It is a fine mission of mercy that Group-Captain Douglas Bader has undertaken in his visit to the United States to show by example that loss of legs need not, must, be loss of hope or ability to walk and run the normal individuals. The famous Royal Air Force fighter pilot's visit to the Shriners Hospital for crippled children the other day would be a mortal builder they are unlikely to forget. It should spur them to overcoming a difficulty that perhaps would strike at the root of their faith and self-confidence in the years to come.

It was no wonder they were all grinning from ear to ear when Bader left the hospital in his legless armour, had shown them how he could move about with ease and freedom on his artificial limbs. They would recall also that here was a man who not only led a Canadian fighter squadron to many victories during the Battle of Britain, but who could play games and compete with without him of fair chance even although like some of them he had suffered the loss of both legs. Something of the dauntless spirit of the man who takes such a disability in his stride would pass to the children for whom he made this special visit.

The name of Douglas Bader will remain high in the aerial annals of the war. He was a conspicuously successful squadron leader until he was brought down and captured by the enemy. He escaped from a prison camp and proved himself showed a score of enemy planes, but his chief virtue lay in his ability to inspire the men he led onto combat. Something of that inspiration he has brought to the crippled children of America. Of all the deeds that stand to his name perhaps nothing will be more to his lasting credit than that he crossed the Atlantic to give cheer and encouragement to young people disabled like himself.

No Tricks Needed

It may be a tricky device as reported from Montreal, to abolish street vendors by forcing them to comply with impossible conditions of the license, but procedure of this sort does not increase respect for the law. Official ordinances should be straightforward and honest, just as officials expect people to be an observance of their edicts. Rulings obviously designed to get round the law as it stands merely show similar circumvention on the opposed direction.

To designate a popcorn stand as a restaurant and thereby necessitate so much space for kitchen, refrigeration and clean room may be a clever move but it is too blatant a trick to be commendable. If street vendors are a public menace the remedy lies in prohibiting them as such without resort to evasion. Direct dealing with communities by civic authorities is the only wise and proper course, no matter the subject matter.

Seen in Passing

The exchange of 47 air cadets between Canada and Great Britain will be a fine thing for both groups of boys. The United Kingdom contingent will land in Eastern Canada shortly and taking the place in the cities that brought them will be the Canadian youths headed the other way. Several British Columbia lads will be in the group in exchange for one from this community. Impressions formed at that age should prove valuable throughout life.

The chief issue which nations must settle in the near future is what is to follow more than 10 years of warfare and its aftermath on the face of this earth. If war can be prevented for the next 30 years there is some likelihood that it can be eradicated altogether. That is a goal worth striving for, one which would mark this century as unique in the long calendar of mankind.

Evening

From upland slopes I see the cows file by,
Lowing, great-chested, down the homeward trail,
By dulling fields and meadows shining pale
With moon-tipped dandelions. Flickering high
A peevish night-hawk in the western sky
Beats up into the lucent solitudes
Or drops with grating wing. The stilly woods
Grow dark and deep and gloom mysteriously
Cool night winds creep, and whisper in mine ear
The homely cricket gossips at my feet
From far-off pools and wastes of reed I hear,
Clear and soft-piped, the chanting frogs to meet
In full Pandean chorus. One by one
Shine out the stars, and the great night comes on.

Fire Hazard

Frank M Kelley

Probably never again, no matter how great the efforts men may put forth, will Vancouver Island raise a crop so great as the 300 million varying degrees of lushness when native silviculture first raised its shores from seaward. Such a communication, while necessity to be wished by some, could hardly be expected, even if substitutes can be found for materials now derived from the forests. Too much damage has been inflicted, irreparable damage, without doubt.

Various causes have contributed to the destruction of the forests of Vancouver Island. Selling this, we are not writing about what they were doing in exploiting the forest resources of British Columbia, for lumber has been by far the most important factor contributing to the gradually increasing area covered by stumps, cutting its industrial stride, and very one of a generation ago. Since the first mill was established hundreds have benefited. We cannot conveniently write against sawmills; to attack we have been a part, if only in a small way, have earned bread and butter for a lot of us for years.

In benefiting from the cutting of timber we also showed little concern for the manner in which considerable percentage of valuable forest growth was destroyed through the policy or lack of policy existing for the greater portion of our time with respect thereto with the purpose of getting the best value for every tree we could and establishing for time by logging more and more, which the future of the industry would be developed in preliminary and more recent years taken away replaced with young growth.

CARELESSNESS RESPONSIBLE

Not did we do much about it when fires took their toll of standing timber, and we were accustomed to reckoning through the smell of smoke made in the summer months, sometimes months, in the forest, with fires falling on the stumps of felled timber and sometimes included were made one of the large fires that have seen were still not complete remnants of the forest, with charred fires, lighted matches and the ashes dire result of the carelessness, whether slow or in the smoked on feet of a pipe or the careless throwing away of the thoughtlessly discarded cigarette.

Fires were scarce before man, because in each year there has been a parently appreciated the uses of the forest in the scheme of things, having of still life and growth of continuously flowing fish-streams. Up to a year ago there was no fire during reminding lines. Antecedent to the time when a year ago the forest was destroyed by lightning and accidentally close his arrival there have been confusion caused by flashes from the heavens.

Next to the end with almost to had a record, a large amount of timber was destroyed by insects, borers and bark beetles. In addition a fire had no long ago. Trees were accordingly conditioned to thrive when the unwanted detritus of the forest was left behind by the loggers. Beside excellent excellent conditions for the growth of trees, there were ideal habitat, favorable as time passed and many a time which deteriorated equipment feet of green timber started when the conditions were favorable. Fire over recreation in three days hunting or fishermen made the forest a fire and cost an commodity unknown on the fire basis of a year ago.

For some time now the lumber operators have had to contend with the problem of commercial forest production on Vancouver Island, and, in recent years, some methods of conservation and reforestation could be instituted for the perpetuation of forest growth. In fact a new era has commenced which Government and private interest is responsible in eliminating all the unsightly stumps and replacing young trees with healthy young trees. All of this is some measure of the phenomenal rapidity of some future timber supply, and, in the meantime, we have had a part in creating for the good of some future generations.

WORTHWHILE OBJECTIVE

We are all conscious, whether we travel through the woods or logged-off lands for pleasure or occupational pursuits, is the worthwhile objective. Only by being alert at all times to the danger can we fight carelessness and hope to keep fire losses at a minimum or abolish the hazard altogether.

Under some circumstances the timber mark leading in reforestation may cause great loss. Summer days when most of us enjoy the woods are the dangerous days. Some hours are more hazardous than others, due to atmospheric conditions. Degrees of heat vary. On a summer afternoon, it is not unusual for to be outdoors when the air seemed quite comfortable and it presented a thought to the effect that if by any chance a match or cigarette at the moment of explosion, which would wreck everything could occur.

Hold Judgment On Apportionment

Application for the apportionment of $1.00 between Mrs. Mrs. H. A. McBrien Royal Oak kennel operator, as the result of a jewel series, actions James Bay president and two inspectors of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, was heard by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane in Supreme Court yesterday. Judgment on the application was reserved.

Judgment on the libel action was handed down by Mr. Justice Macfarlane on May 8 when it was stated that counsel would be heard on an application for apportionment of the $1.500 award.

H. W. Davey, K.C., appeared for Mrs. McBrien.

His strenuous work and experiences with the rescue squad finally affected his health, and he could not go on. But, retiring counsel, he took on the job of air raid warden.

He had been in the army right through the 1914-1918 war and, he added wistfully, "I'd have been in this one if I hadn't been too old."

Observation Car

Automobiles made now on the market might be satisfactory for driving into dry creek or soft white plum but they bend and buckle woefully when hammered into kind-of-red fir, spruce and hemlock. After unsuccessfully trying to repair a fence with some of the tight nails a Vancouver friend complained to his wife: "They would be pretty handy for driving tacks into butter or cheese."

Delivery of automobiles of Dominion throughout Greater Victoria is not always due to shortage of motor parts. Effect and physical and plumbing fixtures. A house started in Esquimalt in February, that will be completed late in June. Investigation showed that the contractor tried to build 18 houses here and there with a single crew in the hope to get a week or two on each house and then disappointing but several weeks at a stretch. A Saanich house of nine-room bungalow may be finished in June or July. The contractor accepted other jobs which brought in greater profits, and returned to work on the Saanich job at infrequent intervals. The same conditions applied to a duplex dwelling in the south part of Fairfield. Builders of the old school finished one job before proceeding to the next, but the new school assumed that one can believe in two or three jobs at a time. Despite the credit-qualification system there seem many delays, partly on the part of the building trade. Perhaps this sounds impossible, but you remain remember there were many who said the automobile would never replace the horse.

Ceremony Recalls Escape From Black Death

By WENDY MacGOWAN
North American Newspaper Alliance

LONDON, June 2—It isn't often that one stands beside a hero unnoticed. But that's what happened to me the other day.

I was standing on the sidewalk to watch the procession of the Royal Family through London on their return from the South African tour. Next to me was a stocky, middle-aged Foreign Office messenger. As we chatted, I learned that he had shaken hands with the King in 1941.

How come? I asked.

He, he said, was the George Medal was the simple yet proud reply.

Then I pieced together the story of Arthur George Chapple Palmer, O.M. typical Londoner, and hero of the blitz.

He had been in the rescue service, and had been buried on three separate occasions, once for nine hours. The incident which earned him the high civilian award for courage was one of the earliest in London. The people were evacuated, and he had to make a passage several hundred yards long to get at them. One woman was pinned beneath an iron girder. It took him five and a half hours to get her free.

His strenuous work and experiences with the rescue squad finally affected his health, and he could not go on. But, retiring counsel, he took on the job of air raid warden.

He had been in the army right through the 1914-1918 war and, he added wistfully, "I'd have been in this one if I hadn't been too old."

VICTORIAN SUCCEEDS

Sir: I am proud of my grandfather, Elizabeth Oliver, dying as well at an Eastern American horse show, as mentioned in Sunday's Colonist, and I would like to place the credit where it belongs. Elizabeth learned all her horsemanship at the Victoria Riding Academy. Last August she earned first and second in two important classes at a show in a western district, with a mare she had had only 12 days and which had never been shown before. This spoke well for the kind of training being given our young people by Mr. and Mrs. Carley, at the Willow.

ARTISTIC DESIGN

Sir: Now that the Community Planning Association of Canada has been started, serious consideration should surely be given to the precise nature of the planning so that only the best and most satisfactory results may be achieved.

Ever since the Lethbridge is precisely essential to the picturesqueness of the complete design, resort should be made to a study of Nature with her addiction to graceful curves, her hatred of straight lines and aggressive angles.

Simplicity of design in buildings may be economical in the money sense, but the few graceful touches which would add so much to the pleasing to the eye might be completely at a very small added cost.

The buildings of Sir Christopher Wren always delight the eye and, to employ the words of a well known poet, are a joy forever, or were before the blitz ruined so many of them beyond recognition and entirely demolished others.

A few suggestions by competent authorities to those about to build would do no harm in any case and might go far towards making this city worthy of its surroundings.

The Uplands and British Pacific Estates afford good examples of what might be accomplished, for the skyline of a building in a most important feature in adding beauty to any group of buildings, be they in city or village, and, roof-space can always be made good use of internally.

Tobin Tells Manufacturers' Meeting Foreign Trade Vital to Employment

BANFF, Alta., June 2 (CP).—Both employees and employers must be brought to a realization of the importance of foreign trade to continuous employment and to the high standard of living actually expended on wages, H. S. Tobin, of Vancouver, said in his presidential address prepared for delivery at the 76th annual general meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association opening here today.

Mr. Tobin said he wondered if it was generally realized that of eight people in Canada, depended for their livelihood directly or indirectly on trade, that more provinces the ratio was as high as 60 per cent.

"How can we expect to export 60 goods and to be paid for them if there documents in other countries cannot afford to pay?" he asked. "How can we expect to hold markets we can win under present conditions when other countries, recovering from the wars of war, once more come into competition with us prepared to undersell us?

"It simply must be realized that employment is wrapped up in foreign trade. I will give but two examples. In 1942, when our foreign trade was valued at $951,000,000, the index of employment in Canada was 873. In 1943, when foreign trade was $4,029,000,000 the index was to 170.7

"It is the grand total of money spent on wages, rather than the rate of wages, which controls economic employment," explained Mr. Tobin. "High wage rates accompanied by a high percentage of unemployment is not wise, but the sort of stupidity."

He said that the majority of leaders of industry in Canada had humble life as wage earners. Many employers were once artisans, who, under a system which permitted a free choice, were able to start in a small way with their modest savings and work up their own businesses on a point where they are now among our largest industrions.

"There now are not the enemies of labor but its friends," he declared. "It is only a small minority of employees, which is extreme in its views, only a fringe of employers which is shared in its approach to the solution of labor problem. It is the desire of employers that their employees shall have fair wages have security in their jobs, have security for their families when the breadwinner is incapacitated, and security in their old age. Employers expect in return that employees will give a fair day's work for a fair day's pay."

Mr. Tobin was critical of the attitude of governmental authorities in continuing nearly two years from "V-J Day" forms of taxation which originated in wartime conditions. It persisted in, he said this would result eventually in defeating the efforts of manufacturers to produce in quantities at a price that would enable Canadian goods to be sold in foreign markets, or alternatively to be sold at a price in domestic markets which the general public can afford to pay.

Mr. Tobin made a strong plea for those returned servicemen, who, because of their age, were finding it difficult to obtain employment.

It is asserted, he said, "that employers are reluctant to hire men who are too old to bring along in their organizations. As a result, deserving veterans in many cases with adequate training for a position, are passed over and left unemployed. Your help, in the circumstances, is a patriotic duty."

C.M.A. Told West's Era Just Ahead

BANFF, Alta., June 2 (CP).—The next 50 years will be the era for the West and there is opportunity and elbow-room for millions of people, Hon. L. S. Eyres, British Columbia Minister of Trade and Industry told the annual convention of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association here today.

T. M. Morson, of Vancouver, vice-president of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, said "now begs will be before the East realizes the potentialities of the West as a necessary force in creating a national industrial economy."

The convention was told by Dr. S. E. Mashigan, of Vancouver, director of the British Columbia Research Council, that Canadian industry had failed to recognize the importance of research.

He said the three problems of peacetime conversion were 1. Better solution of labor-management problems to sustain a full and continued production in industries. 2. Development of larger home markets, which require a liberalization of our whole immigration policy. 3. More intensive research policy by Canadian firms to produce high quality products at lower costs and develop entirely new types of products.

Relations with labor were discussed by delegates. E. R. Compin, of Montreal, chairman of the industrial relations committee, stressed the importance of improving production through wage incentive schemes and joint labor and management committees.

J. T. Shirrell, of Toronto, general manager of the C.M.A., told the convention that results of converting Canada's industry from war to peace have been "encouraging." There was little unemployment, and "hundreds of buyers" were visiting the Dominion looking for goods, equipment, materials, food and services."

At a dinner, delegates heard a warning from R. W. Diamond, of Trail, B.C., vice-president and general manager of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada, Ltd.

Canada, he said, was "socially unstable," and "our most important business is the maintenance of a free and stable society." The country's manufacturers, investors and industrialists did not have to be convinced of the merits of free enterprise as against collectivism or the fallacy of socialism, but they had failed to do "a good selling job."

Riders in Bus Escape Death

ASTORIA, Ore., June 2 (AP).—An Oregon Motor Stages bus carrying 37 passengers went off the lower Columbia River Highway and overturned today. Three men suffered slight injuries.

The bus was bound from Portland to Astoria.

MALVERN, Worcestershire, Eng., June 2 (AP).—Wives are entitled to a holiday if more modern marriages are not to break down, Rev. H. J. Freimanner told married members of his parish.

MONTREAL, June 2 (CP).—There are times when even Roods betray their measure of good and that's how it was for police when they raided a rambling establishment at suburban Repentigny.

The place was surrounded by water, except for a backdoor which led out to a hill. And when police made the raid the keeper and nine found-ins raced to leave for the front door but were forced into police arms when it was discovered the only way out of the establishment, aside from the back door, was by boat.

Britain Building Gold Reserve For World Trade Comeback

LONDON, June 2 (Reuters).—Britain in recent months has accumulated a great gold reserve. The reason is obvious.

After an interlude of eight years, Britain, by July 15, is going back into the business of international trading and international banking in real money. For that business the beef of all "bank cash" is a gold reserve—the bigger the better.

Some British officials think that convertibility of sterling, scheduled for July 15, so far from aggravating the dollar crisis, may cure it.

The great gap between the world's dollar spending and its dollar earnings—a gap which yawns wider with every successive official report on United States exports and imports—reflects the slow postwar revival of the world outside North and South America.

As Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer, Hugh Dalton, emphasized last week, this makes the world "much too dependent" on supplies from North and South America, pushes up prices and results. In confirmation that the bulk of Britain's holdings of gold and dollars—$2,500,000,000 at the end of 1946—is in gold, not dollars.

Britain's dollar loans being spent "much too quickly."

It now is generally agreed that, after July 15, most countries will be short of sterling as well as dollars. If both the great currencies of international trade are hard to get, people are likely to be admitted to try and get them—by producing goods to earn them.

Young Chinese Held in Check

SHANGHAI, June 2 (AP).—Widespread raids and a show of military strength in China's big cities thwarted anti-civil war demonstrations by university students today.

The students, who blame the civil war for the unbearable rout of living were accused by the Government of plotting a general Communist uprising.

The greatest violence reported was at the Chungking Central Engineering College, where one newspaper said two students were killed, two wounded seriously and more than 1,200 arrested in a pre-dawn raid by Government soldiers.

Students and police fought in the streets of Hankow, with several injuries on both sides.

The Chinese press said military police raiders also swooped on dormitories in Tientsin, Mukden, Hangchow, Wuchang, Foochow and Haifong.

Shanghai police patrolled the streets with drawn pistols. For good measure the city authorities and the Wosung Garrison staged a huge anti-Communist parade of their own. The mile-long procession, guarded by mounted men with automatic rifles, tied up traffic for several hours. The city remained under martial law.

Federal Exe On Cosmetics

OTTAWA, June 2 (CP).—The Dominion Government soon may move in on the hitherto sacrosanct territory of the boudoir.

This was disclosed in an address here today by Dr. Harry Cassidy, of Health Minister Martin to the Canadian Pharmaceutical Manufacturers' Association.

Admitting his subject was a "touchy" one, Mr. Martin said the Government would introduce legislation to bring cosmetics under the jurisdiction of the Food and Drug Act, which regulates the ingredients of foods channeled to the Dominion's retail markets.

"The intent of legislation applying to cosmetics will be to afford the consumer such protection as seems needed against possible harmful ingredients," Mr. Martin said, "and to see that the labeling and advertising of cosmetics is at least truthful and free from misleading and grossly exaggerated claims."

Mr Martin—his tongue in his cheek—could see "no justification for claims inferred in such descriptions as "Crow's Foot Cream," "Nourishing Cream," "Deep Pore Cream," "Tissue Cream," and "Hair Color Restorer"! These, he added, were "just a few."

Tobin Tells Manufacturers' Meeting Foreign Trade Vital to Employment

BANFF, Alta., June 2 (CP).—Both employees and employers must be brought to a realization of the importance of foreign trade to continuous employment and to the prosperity actually expended on wages, H. S. Tobin, of Vancouver, said in his presidential address prepared for delivery at the 76th annual general meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association opening here today.

Mr. Tobin said he wondered if it was realized that three out of eight people in Canada depended for their livelihood directly on foreign trade, that in some provinces the ratio was as high as 60 per cent.

"How can we expect to export our goods and to be paid for them if prices consumers in other countries cannot afford to pay?" he asked. "How can we expect to hold the markets we secured under pre-war conditions when other countries, recovering from the stress of war, once more come into competition with us prepared to undersell us?

"It simply must be realized that conditions are changed in our foreign trade. I will give but two examples. In 1932, when our foreign trade was valued as $651,000,000, the index of employment in Canada was 87.5. In 1945, when foreign trade was $4,029,000,000 the index was 150.7

"It is the grand total of money spent on wages, rather than the rate of wages, which controls continuous employment," explained Mr. Tobin. "High wage rates accompanied by a high percentage of unemployment is not wise, but the part of stupidity."

He said that the majority of leaders of industry in Canada had lived his as wage earners. Many employees were once artisans, who under a system which permitted a free choice, were able to start in a small way with their money, or using and work up their own businesses to a point where they are now among our largest industries.

"These men are not the enemies of labor but its friends," he declared. "It is only a small minority of employees, which is extreme in its views, only a fringe of employers which is biased in its approach to the solution of labor problems. It is the desire of employers that their employees shall have fair wages, have security in their jobs, have security for their families when the breadwinner is incapacitated, and security in their old age. Employers expect in return that employees will give a fair day's work for a fair day's pay."

Mr. Tobin was critical of the attitude of governmental authorities in continuing, nearly two years from "V-J Day", forms of taxation which originated in wartime conditions. Repetitalized in, he said this would result eventually in defeating the efforts of manufacturers to produce in quantities at a price that would enable Canadian people to be sold in foreign markets, or alternatively, to be sold at a price in domestic markets which the general public can afford to pay.

Mr. Tobin made a strong plea for those returned servicemen, who because of their age were finding it difficult to obtain employment.

"It is asserted," he said, "that employers are reluctant to hire men who are too old to bring along in their organization. As a result, deserving veterans in many cases with adequate training for a position, are passed over and left unemployed. Your help, in the circumstances, is a patriotic duty."

C.M.A. Told West's Era Just Ahead

BANFF, Alta., June 2 (CP).—The next 25 years will be the era for the West and there is opportunity and elbow-room for millions of people, Hon. L. R. Eves, British Columbia Minister of Trade and Industry told the annual convention of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association here today.

T. M. Moran, of Vancouver, vice-president of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, asked "How long will it be before the Rail realizes the potentialities of the West as a necessary force in creating a rational industrial economy?"

The convention was filled by Dr. A. E. Mudgett, of Vancouver, director of the British Columbia Research Council, that Canadian industry had failed to recognize the importance of research.

He said the three problems of postwar conversion were 1 Britain's solution of labor-management problems to ensure a full and continuous production in industries. 2 Development of larger home markets, which require a liberalization of our whole immigration policy. 3 More intensive research policy by Canadian firms to produce high quality products at lower costs and develop entirely new types of products.

Relations with labor were discussed by delegates. E. H. Coughlin, of Montreal, chairman of the industrial relations committee, stressed the importance of improving production through wage incentive schemes and joint labor and management committees.

J. T. Gilreen, of Toronto, general manager of the C.M.A., told the convention that results of converting Canada's industry from war to peace have been "encouraging." There was little unemployment, and "hundreds of buyers" were visiting the Dominion looking for "goods, equipment, materials, food and services."

At a dinner, delegates heard a warning from R. W. Diamond, of Trail, B.C., vice-president and general manager of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada, Ltd.

Canada, he said, was "socially unstable" and "our most important business is the maintenance of a free and stable society." The country's manufacturers, investors and industrialists did not have to be convinced of the merits of free enterprise as against collectivism or the fallacy of socialism, but they had failed to do "a good selling job."

Riders in Bus Escape Death

ASTORIA, Ore., June 2 (AP).—An Oregon Motor Stages bus carrying 27 passengers went off the lower Columbia River Highway and overturned today. Three men suffered slight injuries.

The driver, Philip White, Warrenton, Ore., was treated for cuts and bruises at the Astoria Hospital.

Some other passengers—most of them sailors—were shaken when the bus rolled on its side, but escaped actual injury.

The bus was bound from Portland to Astoria.

...Oddities...

MALVERN, Worcestershire, Eng., June 2 (CP).—All wives are entitled to a holiday if more modern marriages are not to break down, Rev. H. J. Priestnamer told married members of his parish.

"My advice to the men," he said "is to take their wives away to the seaside for a holiday and if necessary sacrifice their cigarettes in order to get there. It is better than fobbing her off with a visit to the pictures."

EXETER, Devonshire, Eng., June 3 (CP).—"Women have invaded the Belfry" the Bishop of Exeter, Dr. C. E. Carson, told a conference of the Central Council of Church Beltringers.

"I welcome the invasion. Bellringing is a great exercise. It should be good for the women."

MONTREAL, June 3 (CP).—There are times when even floods bring their measure of good and that's how it was for police when they raided a gambling establishment at suburban Repentigny.

The place was surrounded by water, except for a backdoor which led out to a hill. And when police made the raid the keeper and one found-in record to leave for the front door but were forced into police arms when it was discovered the only way out of the establishment said from the back door, was by boat.

There were no boats.

Couple Acquire Pet When Sea-Going Spaniel Boards Boat Ten Miles Off Pacific Coast

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., June 2 (AP).—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Linstrum picked a pet dog right out of the Pacific.

They were aboard their cabin cruiser at sea when one of their guests cried: "Look, there's a seal."

The "seal" turned out to be a male cocker spaniel, nearly exhausted.

Now the Linstrums, who took the dog home, are wondering if they'll ever solve the mystery of how he happened to be swimming 10 miles from shore.

The movement includes expert dairymen, fruit and vegetable farmers, sugar beet workers, greenhouse men and herdsmen.

The first magazine ever issued was the "Gentlemen's Magazine," published in London in 1731.

CAIRO, June 2 (Reuters).—About 1,200,000 acres of Egypt's total cotton cultivated area of 1,600,000 acres have been affected by a "devastating" cotton worm attack, an agriculture ministry official disclosed tonight. It is the worst attack in 25 years.

Britain Building Gold Reserve For World Trade Comeback

LONDON, June 2 (Reuters).—Britain in recent months has accumulated a great gold reserve. The reason is obvious.

After an interlude of eight years, Britain, by July 15, is going back into the business of international trading and international banking in real money. For that business the best of all "bank cash" is a gold reserve—the bigger the better.

Some British officials think that convertibility of sterling, scheduled for July 15, so far from aggravating the dollar crisis, may cure it.

The great gap between the world's dollar spending and its dollar earnings—a gap which yawns wider with every successive official report on United States exports and imports—reflects the slow postwar revival of the world outside North and South America.

As Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer, Hugh Dalton, emphasized last week, this makes the world "much too dependent" on supplies from North and South America, pushes up prices and results in Britain's dollar loans being spent "much too quickly."

It now is generally agreed that after July 15, most countries will be short of sterling as well as dollars. If both the great currencies of international trade are hard to get, people are likely to be stimulated to try and get them—by producing goods to earn them.

In addition to broad hints from high quarters, there is independent confirmation that the bulk of Britain's holdings of gold and dollars—$2,800,000,000 at the end of 1946—is in gold not dollars.

Betty Petch Wed At Truth Centre

Last evening at Victoria Truth Centre Rev. Emma A. Bailey officiated at the marriage of Barbara Ruth "Betty," daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Meredith Petch, 878 Newport Avenue, and Stoker Donald Turner, R.C.N. son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis O. Turner, Perdue, Sask. Spirea with red and white Summer flowers arranged by Mrs. J. Kirick, formed the floral setting. Miss Eileen Dumbleton played the traditional wedding music and Miss Beverly Fisher sang "Beloved."

The bride, given away by her father, made a lovely picture in a gown of candlelight satin fashioned with dropped shoulder and yoke of illusion net, tip-point sleeves, and full skirt slightly en train. Her flimsy veil was held by clusters of orange blossoms which had been worn by her mother. Her only ornament was a double strand of pearls and she carried a bouquet of red and white carnations.

Miss Laurel Leigh wearing a green of pale blue jersey silk with cap sleeves and scattered skirt, was maid of honor. She wore long white jersey silk gloves, a headdress of Summer flowers and carried an arm bouquet of pastel blooms. Little Sally Gardom, dressed in powder blue crepe de chine with white smocking at neck and sleeves, was a dainty flower girl. She had flowers tucked in her hair and carried a pastel Colonial bouquet.

The best man was S.A Charles Stokes and the ushers Stoker John Barker and Bandsman Ralph Adolphe, all R.C.N.

Following the ceremony Mrs. Petch and Mrs. E. Downie welcomed guests with the young couple. The three-tired cake made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Norvall Petersen, centred the table which was decorated with Summer flowers and tall white tapers. Commander H. W. B. Scobby, R.C.N. (Ret.), proposed the toast.

For a Mainland honeymoon the bride wore a black coat with red and white polka dot pleated skirt, off-white shorter coat, and corsage bouquet of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner will live in Victoria.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

NAMING THE ATHLETIC "COACH"

Before we come to the popular figurative use of the word "coach" as we use it for the football catch in the sighting coach or other "coach" there is interest in the derivation of the word as the name of a carriage.

"Coach" was long regarded as derived through the French "coche" from the Italian cocchio, meaning "little boat." From the Italian cocchio, a "mussel shell." This in fact is the orthodox explanation of the term as many dictionaries still give it.

However, there is another theory that the word's origin which is now given evidence among responsible etymologists. It is that the word (through the French coche) is really the Hungarian kocsi, from the old city of Kocsi (later Kocher-), in Hungary, where this type of vehicle was first made.

And the transference of the word from the horse-drawn carriage to the tutor or athletic adviser is rationalized by the analogy of the old days back in the ancient world when the tutor who performs a similar service, though different in degree.

Little Stories for Bedtime

as PROMOTED W. BOLLEN

LITTLE MITE'S GREATEST ADVENTURE

Blacky the Crow and his equally black relatives were having a perfectly glorious time in Farmer Brown's cornfield. You know there is nothing that Blacky likes more than he does newly-sprouted corn. He always has a kind feeling when in the early Spring he sees Farmer Brown ploughing up the brown earth of the cornfield, because he knows that in a few weeks he is going to have a feast. Farmer Brown knows it, too, and so does Farmer Brown's boy. They have all up nights trying to think of some way to prevent Blacky from having that feast. They have tried all sorts of plans for frightening Blacky away from the cornfield, but he is so smart that he soon sees through their plans and just laughs at them. He never yet has failed to have at least one good feast when Farmer Brown's corn was young and tender.

That was what he was doing now and all the time he was eating he was making fun of the scarecrow that Farmer Brown's boy had been such pains to make look like a man with a gun. Blacky had been quite sure from the beginning that it was perfectly harmless, but it is not Blacky's way to take chances and so he had waited to be positive about it. It was Meadow Mite, the lost baby of Danny Meadow Mouse, who had made Blacky positive that that scarecrow was harmless. Mite had made a bed for himself in a pocket of the old coat which the scarecrow wore and Blacky had seen him running in and out of it. He had known right away then that this man was only a make-believe man and at once he had called all his relatives to the feast.

Little Mite never had heard such a noisy crew and as he timidly peeped out at the big black birds having such a good time he had a queer feeling that something was going to happen. All of a sudden Blacky, who was sitting on a fence post taking his turn at keeping watch, shouted "Caw, caw, caw!" There was a great flapping of wings and all taking at once and laughing and having a great time Blacky and all his relatives flew away. Mite didn't know what to make of it. He crept out of his hiding place and watched them settle down over on the Green Meadows still talking and laughing as if they thought it all a great joke. He wondered why they had left when they were having such a feast and good time. He was so busy watching them that he didn't notice anything else. Without any warning a great voice cried, "Ha!"

Little Mite looked up to see a great giant on two legs close beside the scarecrow. Without waiting for a second look he scrambled into the pocket of the old coat and burrowed down under the grass and cotton padding of which he had made his bed. his little heart thumping with fright so that it almost hurt. He hoped with all his might that he hadn't been seen and he held his breath as he waited for what would happen next. He didn't have long to wait. The pocket was opened and a great hand slipped in and lifted him out, bed and all.

Mite was too frightened to move. He just sat perfectly still except that he trembled all over. He couldn't help that, you know, what possible chance had a wee, frightened Meadow Mouse with such a huge creature as now held him? He was perfectly helpless, and he knew it. He just shut his eyes and waited for something terrible to happen. But nothing terrible did happen. Instead he felt something stroking him very gently. By and by he ventured to open his eyes. A freckled face was bending over him and somehow it didn't look fierce or cruel at all.

"You little rascal!" exclaimed a great voice. That is, it seemed a great voice to Little Mite. You little rascal! You knew a good thing when you saw it, didn't you? I don't believe any of your enemies would ever think of looking for you in a scarecrow's pocket. I'll believe I'll take you home with me."

Then Mite and his bed were put into another pocket just like the one he had been taken from, only this one was the pocket of Farmer Brown's boy. He didn't know where he was going or what was going to happen, but somehow he didn't feel so much afraid. It was his greatest adventure, but somehow he felt that it was going to come out all right.

Council Talks Over City Hall Site Lease For Construction of $3,000,000 Hotel

"It looks to me as if the City Hall committee has come and laid a big golden egg right on the table," Ald. W. A. Morgan told the City Council yesterday during the debate on the proposal to lease the City Hall site for construction of a $3,000,000 hotel.

The debate concluded with the council authorizing the committee headed by Ald. Edward Williams to go ahead with negotiations as soon as the group interested in building the hotel deposits $20,000 with the city.

Ald. B. J. Gaddes, who earlier this year opposed the sale of the City Hall to Hagar & Swayne Ltd. for $175,000, stated "It seems a good way of getting a new City Hall without expense to the taxpayer."

He was referring to a portion of the agreement which states the company must pay five years' advance taxes at $60,000 a year, less the usual 4 per cent allowed for tax prepayments. The sum paid by the hotel group would be $384,000, while city officials have estimated a new City Hall can be built for $250,000.

ASKS WHY GROUP WANTS TO LEASE

Ald. H. M. Diggon wanted to know why the group was interested in leasing the property rather than buying it. Was it because they wished a fixed tax for a number of years in order to gain an advantage over competitors? he asked.

Ald. Williams stated many firms in the United States and England have for years been following the practice of leasing rather than buying.

"If we had limited on purchase the whole thing would have been finished," he declared.

It was the city's suggestion to set a fixed tax of $60,000 with the committee trying to obtain this fixed tax on a 99-year basis, he said, with a compromise finally agreed to by the hotel group to pay the fixed tax for 25 years.

The fixed tax would represent the actual tax on land and a $2,500,000 building at the present rate, he stated, but it must be remembered that the value of the building would be steadily depreciating. After 25 years the company would pay the regular tax and would have no option to buy the property in 10 years.

"Why don't they want to buy it now?" asked Ald. Diggon.

"I don't know," Ald. Williams replied, "that is the way they do business."

SAYS TAX RATE MAY INCREASE

Ald. Diggon then pointed out the tax rate would probably show an increase in the future. He also wanted to know whether the proposed structure would be purely a hotel building or a commercial building with hotel rooms above.

"If there are to be stores on the lower floor, they would, perhaps, be competitively with other stores in the vicinity which do not enjoy fixed taxation," he suggested.

Ald. Devine pointed out the agreement provided stores could be placed on the lower floor.

"If they wanted a purely tourist hotel they would not want to place it here," he declared. "They want some revenue if they are going to make an investment of this size."

When Ald. Mrs. Margaret Christie stated $60,000 a year did not seem a very big tax for a big hotel with stores on the lower floor, Mayor George pointed out the controller's figures showed the tax on a building valued at $2,500,000 would amount to $78,000, regardless of what the building was used for.

He reminded members of the council that they had previously thought it good policy to sell the site and accept a $250,000 department store which would bring in only $10,000 a year in taxation. The proposed hotel building would cost ten times as much, he declared. The proposed fixed tax was nearly equal to the actual tax which would be charged. Within ten years it might be more because of the depreciation.

Said Ald. Williams: "At the moment the tax on the site and a $3,000,000 building would be $62,000, but within 25 years it would be $60,000 because of depreciation."

DISCUSSION CENTRES ON $20,000 DEPOSIT

Some discussion centred on whether the $20,000 deposit, to be paid before negotiations continue, could be forfeited provided the group did not fulfill its promise to deposit $600,000 30 days before the December elections.

Ald. Williams said this had not been definitely stated, but assured the council he would try to get this point as part of the agreement.

Later yesterday, M. H. King of King Realty Ltd., agents for the hotel group, said this had been undertaken by his principals, R. J. Fassett and W. H. Sperbi, two of the principals, were in Victoria recently. The third person, B. A. Nixon, was notified of the council action by telephone to Lethbridge yesterday, Mr. King said.

Expressing satisfaction at the council approval, Mr. King stated: "We wish at this time to say that the company that will deal with this property will be an all-Canadian company and it will be incorporated just as quickly as possible so that the citizens of Victoria will know with whom they are dealing.

"Roy Mainer has been retained by the principals to carry on all of the legal work in connection with the formation of the company," he continued. "It will be a Canadian capital, primarily headed by Canadians and built by Canadians in Victoria."

Plans will be available later, he gave everyone an opportunity to inspect them at a later date, Mr. King said.

"We feel there is a very definite need for a hotel in Victoria," he concluded.

Playgrounds Will Open On June 10

City playgrounds will open June 10 officials of the city playground committee said yesterday.

Opening on this date will be Beacon Hill, James Bay, Todd Park, Victoria West School, North Ward, Burnside, Oaklands, Hollywood, Fairfield and Central.

Beacon Hill and Central Park playgrounds will operate from 8.30 a.m. until 8 p.m. six days a week while the remainder will be open from 1.30 to 5 Monday through Friday. Each of the playgrounds will have a trained supervisor and all remain open throughout July and August.

Swimming instruction at the Crystal Garden under Fred Ellison will commence Tuesday, July 1, at 9 a.m. and carry on throughout the period that the playgrounds are open. Boys will receive instruction Tuesday mornings and girls Friday mornings.

Twelve playground supervisors have been appointed and their names will be announced shortly. The committee stated that every district in the city is now provided with a supervised playground.

Gordon Hardie, chief playground supervisor, is at present visiting playgrounds throughout the city schools in order to inform children of the playground facilities available to them. Printed matter will be distributed for parents' reference.

Special feature this year will be tennis instructions by Carl-Brand, Victoria's outstanding tennis star who will visit playgrounds weekly.

Kearsey, Famous Breeder Of Springers, Recommends Gro-Pup

Mr. J. H. Kearsey, Proprietor of the Westmount Kennels, Langley, Vancouver Island, B.C., says: "I have been a dog breeder for 25 years both in England and Canada, and I have tried a great many commercial feeds but found I have been important feeding in. Since I changed to Gro-Pup two years ago, I have found the one that meets all demands. Our Springers not only enjoy their meals of Gro-Pup, but thrive on them. Our show prizes prove that. So to any one looking for a good, well-balanced dog food, I say 'switch to Gro-Pup'."

Why breeders feed Gro-Pup

Breeders know it is not safe to try to raise dogs on "table scraps" alone. Dogs must have a properly balanced diet that gives them everything they need for strong bones, sound teeth, and a beautiful coat. That's why breeders feed Gro-Pup.

A properly balanced diet

Gro-Pup is a properly balanced diet to keep dogs of all ages, sizes, and breeds at their natural best. It is easily digestible. It contains every vitamin and mineral dogs are known to need for sturdy growth and vigour—and it saves you money.

Gro-Pup costs about ½ the price of many other brands of dog food—and is very economical. A 2-lb. box of Gro-Pup Cubes or Meal feeds an average 15-lb. dog a week. Get it at your grocer's or pet shop in either cube or meal form. Gro-Pup is made by Kellogg's in London, Ontario.

Reds Topple Giants From National Top

Hand Unbeaten Hartung First Loss of Season Ferris Drives in Three, Pitches Seven-Hitter

By STEVE ROBERTSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Cincinnati didn't feel yesterday of a dethroning when they defeated New York, 8-3. Not only did the Reds topple the Giants from undisputed leadership mastery in the National League into a tie for first place with the idle Chicago Cubs but they also handed unbeaten Clint Hartung his first setback of the season.

Hartung, a converted rookie outfielder who boasted a 4-0 record game prior to the game, was slugged for timely hitting with Cliff Fannin's 12 hits including eighth inning homers by Eddie Lukon and Eddie Miller. Besides getting his 11th pitching win, Ferris also drove in three of the four runs, Miller drove in four runs.

The uprising broke a 2-2 deadlock and the Reds sailed the game away by scoring four more runs in the final inning against Hartung and Hal Gumbert. Buck Walter went the route for Cincinnati, allowing 11 safeties. The win was the 12th of Walters' career.

In the only other games in the loop, St. Louis took a 10-inning decision from Brooklyn 8-4 and Pittsburgh defeated Boston 4-3.

At Brooklyn, Lefty Howie Pollet of the Cardinals won his own game when he singled home Ron Slaughter from second in the extra inning. Pollet, in hanging up his third victory against six defeats, outlasted five Brooklyn hurlers in a three-hours-seven-minutes marathon.

Slaughter paced the 11-hit Cardinal attack with three hits good for two runs.

In their game with Boston, Pittsburgh throttled a ninth inning rally during which starter Rip Sewell had to leave the mound because of numbness in three fingers of his pitching hand.

Up to the ninth when he was relieved by Art Herring, Rip had allowed only four hits, three in the first when Braves scored its first run. Meanwhile, the Pirates found starter Bi Johnson for ten hits and four runs.

In the ninth Pirates scored once as well — twice. Herring allowed another run and then stopped them cold.

Only day activity in the American League was at Chicago, where the White Sox ended a five-game losing streak by defeating Boston, 6-5, in the second game of a double-header, after losing the first, 8-2.

Mutrie-Jones, Chicago first baseman, joined the Sox ranks from the Red Sox and drove in three runs with a single and triple to decide the opener.

Topnotch Pros To Enter Canadian Open

The Canadian open golf championship, for the Benjamin Gold Cup and $10,000 in prize money, is still several weeks away but already the entry list begins to look like a Who's Who of North American golfing greats. A chaps field seems assured for the 38th annual open over Toronto's Scarboro course July 16-19.

Heading the list of ranking U.S. entries are three of the five leaders in the recent Masters' Tournament at Augusta, Georgia.

Jimmy Demaret of Texas won the Masters and immediately filed his entry for the Canadian Open. Jim Ferrier, former Australian champion and British amateur winner in 1936 placed third, and also indicated he would be on hand for the Canadian event. Frank Stranahan, colorful Cleveland amateur, wound up in second spot at the Masters and promptly wired the Royal Canadian Golf Association with his entry.

The R.C.G.A. has yet to hear from Byron Nelson, winner of the Benjamin Gold Cup two years ago, who wound up in a second-place tie with Ferrier at Augusta.

Even if Nelson doesn't make it, the tournament seems assured of having at least two previous winners on hand. Gene Kunes, of Hollywood, Florida, who took the Gold Cup and top prize money in 1941 at Montreal Summitville, has filed his entry, after several years away from competitive play through illness. Little George Fazio, of California, who took the Canadian title at Montreal Beaconsfield a year ago, will be back to defend his cup. Most of last year's top finishers are entries this Summer. In addition to Fazio, entries have been filed by Dick Metz, who was beaten out by a single stroke by Fazio in a spectacular 18-hole play-off. Stan Leonard, of Vancouver, Harry Todd and Lloyd Mangrum, United States open champion. Leonard, Mangrum and Todd ended regular play a single stroke behind Fazio and Metz a year ago.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

Stiff, aching joints?

Ever get twinges of pain in the joints, limbs, or arms? Finger joints feel stiff? Worse during damp weather? It's probably a rheumatic condition which is caused by a sluggish liver.

You should try Kruschen at once. Taken each morning, according to directions on the bottle, Kruschen helps remove a frequent cause of rheumatic conditions because it aids the organs of elimination to flush out the poisonous impurities waste from the body. Kruschen also supplies minerals often deficient in the daily diet. General health improves, too.

Grandpa Kruschen says:
"It's the regular morning dose that counts!"

Ah, start today with Kruschen, and continue the treatment for a month or so. Kruschen has helped thousands of others to feel fine—so why not you? At all Drug Stores. 35c and 75c.

Still Burdened with "GENERAL SHORTAGES"

Whew! Have we got our troubles!

That inconsiderate old codgar, "General Shortages," is still riding relentlessly on the back of the telephone business—a hefty handicap to our efforts to give telephone service to all those who want it.

Of course, as we have pointed out before, this problem of General Shortages is not peculiar to the telephone business; every business has felt it in some measure, and the public has suffered accordingly.

We are making some progress. Last year, for example, despite persistent shortages of equipment and materials, our system managed to set a new record in telephone growth. But applications are still reaching us at a record-breaking rate—and the result of our big wartime backlog, plus our unprecedented flow of new applications, is that we still have about 18,000 names on the waiting list for our whole system.

Shortages? Yes, we're still having trouble getting nearly everything needed to give service—central office equipment (switchboards and dial apparatus), cable, wire, instruments and so on.

We, like you, are looking forward to the day when we can say to General Shortages: "Get off, old man; this is the end of the line! Goodbye—and good riddance!"

In the meantime, to a long-suffering public, we say:

Thank you for your understanding and patience.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, June 2 (AP).—Stocks generally turned downward in today's first June market, although dealings were among the slowest of the past year.

Aviation paced a forenoon retreat, following the holiday plane crashes, but most were not particularly active. Steels, motors, rubbers and rails slipped with the ticker tape frequently idle. Extreme declines running to 3 or more points were reduced in a number of cases and a few specials showed modest plus signs at the close.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off 7 of a points at 66.5, widest dip since May 17. It was the narrowest five-hour market since July 5, a year ago. Of 847 issues registering, 631 fell and 163 rose.

CANCEL BELL EXHIBIT

LONDON, (CP).—To conserve fuel, post office officials cancelled an exhibition of telephone equipment which was to have been held to commemorate the centenary of the birth of Alexander Graham Bell.

Cutting down on foods and indulging in reducing exercises may prove harmful if not suited to one's individual needs if a person wants to reduce, the procedure should have professional direction and control, say doctors.

"Her Sister's Secret" Opens at Dominion

The powerful and self-sacrificing love of a New Orleans beauty for the young man from whom fate separates her is the stirring theme of P.R.C.'s newest romantic drama, "Her Sister's Secret," which opens today at the Dominion Theatre. An all-star cast, headed by Nancy Coleman, Margaret Lindsay, Philip Reed and Faith Brisson, lends force to the dramatic production.

Edgar G. Ulmer directed the picture, which was written for the screen by Anne Green. An original musical score by Hans Sommer is one of the film's highlights.

ATLAS THEATRE Marvin Miller, proxy in Columbia's film, Humphrey Bogart-Lizabeth Scott starrer, "Dead Reckoning," playing at the Atlas Theatre, mused it up so realistically with Bogey that he aggravated a pain right knee. So, on conclusion of his role in the suspenseful thriller directed by John Cromwell, he had an operation performed on the knee. Co-starring with Humphrey Bogart is the lovely Lizabeth Scott.

CAPITOL THEATRE Eagle - Lion's screen adaptation of Vera Caspary's best-selling novel, "Bedelia," is now at the Capitol Theatre. The picture stars Margaret Lockwood and Ian Hunter and has all the reality, drama and tenseness of Miss Caspary's fertile imagination. Telling the story of the wickedest woman who ever loved, "Bedelia" contains all the elements of a master production.

PLAZA THEATRE The Red Cross heroine, Sister Kenny, played by actress of 20 American WACS in the Technicolor spectacle, "Stairway to Heaven," a Universal International release, which has been held over at the Plaza Theatre, has women, who were stationed in England at the time, used their footsoldiers to play themselves in the film. They presented their entire earnings to the Red Cross. "Stairway to Heaven" co-stars David Niven, Raymond Massey and Roger Livesey.

ROYAL THEATRE Loretta Young, Joseph Cotten and Ethel Barrymore have the starring roles in RKO Radio's "The Farmer's Daughter," now showing at the Royal Theatre. The story revolves around the political adventures of Katie Mae Young, a young farm girl, after she enters the employ of young Congressman Glenn Morley (Cotten) and his mother (Miss Barrymore) as a maid. Intelligent and frank in her ideas, Katie makes an impression upon her employers, particularly Glenn.

YORK THEATRE Stanley Holloway plays Albert Godby, station ticket collector in Noel Coward's "Brief Encounter," which is now showing at the York. Trevor Howard is the type of man you would expect to find collecting tickets from passengers at a small country station, and he has a way with him which appeals to all the travelers.

Municipal Briefs Of the District

The city of Windsor has forwarded to the City Council 100 endorsation a petition asking the Provincial Government to withdraw the 6 percent wartime tax on electricity gas and long-distance telephone calls.

Dixie Crawford of the Canadian Legion has written to the City Council expressing appreciation of its action in agreeing to the erection of an additional 150 wartime houses and suggesting that other municipal authorities have not shown the same spirit of co-operation in this pressing need.

The city building department has issued permits to R. Ford for erection of a five-room house at 2181 Quadra Street to cost $7,000, to D. Lambrianoff for a five-room house at 1130 Oxford Street, to cost $8,500, to P. Ciolibeck, 3108 Glasgow Street, to cost $5,400, and to R. This will bring to 250 the number of such homes built for veterans, in addition to 350 others built during the war for war workers.

London Market

LONDON June 2 (Reuters)—Quiet days were experienced on the Stock Exchange and features were hard to find. British Government securities, sagged and Central Europeans, especially Hungarian bonds, eased because of internal uncertainties in that country. Chinese issues also lost a point.

Home industrials held a fairly steady course. Argentine railway stocks eased and Brazilian rails also were dull.

Movements were small in oils. Rubbers eased further, but there was some recovery in tea. Gold and copper shares moved against holders, but were steadier at the close. Nickels were unaffected by the strike threat, with other International's little changed.

Gyros Discuss Annual Event

Meeting at the Kit Kat Banquet Club, 1406 Douglas Street, members of the Gyro Club yesterday discussed plans being made for the annual "hole-in-one" contest to be held at Central Junior High School, July 3 to 5, inclusive.

President Dr. Jack Mercer expressed the hope business men and Veterans in general would support the annual event, proceeds of which go to the Queen Alexandra Solarium. Neil Grant, chairman of advance ticket sales committee, reported more than $7,000 was raised for the Solarium at last year's affair.

In connection with advance ticket sales, the club membership has been divided into nine teams. Tickets sales will commence within several days.

President Mercer noted cash contributions to the "hole-in-one" contest were deductable for income tax purposes. All cash contributions will receive an official receipt from the Solarium head office.

CANADIAN RADIO LAWS ARE STILL IN OX-CART DAYS

THINK how confused you would be if highway traffic one-day were still governed by the laws in force in ox-cart days.

Radio broadcasting in Canada is still struggling along under the laws drafted when radio was merely a hobby in a few homes. To-day these "ox-cart" laws are serious handicaps to those who are doing their utmost to bring you the very best radio programs.

For example, according to Canadian radio law, there is no legal right to free speech on the air. Whatever government is in power has dictatorial authority to write and operate any broadcasting station. The government's CBC excludes the press and the public from its meeting—meetings at which matters of vital public interest are decided. But you the public are not told the reasons for these decisions. The Government-of-the-day can cancel broadcasting licenses and put any radio station out of business without a hearing and without right of appeal even when no offense has been committed.

These are just a few examples taken from the tangle of rules and regulations with which Canadian broadcasting is tied down.

Surely all democratic people will agree that such far reaching powers discourage free and fair competition, the very thing which is needed to put new life into Canadian radio. No one government is to blame for the confusion. It is simply that Canada's radio laws have not kept pace with the rapid growth of radio.

Canadian broadcasting is every radio listener's business—it is your business. The Independent Commercial Radio Stations in Canada believe that all radio listeners will take a lively interest in the proposal that Canada's radio laws should be overhauled and brought up to date, and that a truly independent body serve and protect the interests of all Canadians in the future of radio broadcasting in our country.

One of a series of public discussions of the future of radio in Canada. Published by an affiliation of 89 Independent Commercial Radio Stations throughout Canada.

States War Policy of Credits To Britain Must Be Continued

Canada must continue its wartime policy of extending vast credits to Britain for the future welfare of both countries, W. C. Mainwaring B.C. Electric vice-president in charge of Vancouver Island operations, said here last night.

In an address to the annual meeting of the Victoria Builders' Exchange in the Empress Hotel, Mr Mainwaring criticized "the apathy of the public" against continuing aid to Great Britain.

"This attitude," he said, "is completely wrong, and if it is possible to become our general Canadian policy, we are most assuredly doomed to a depression"

"Our Canadian people must be brought to a realisation that they depend on British markets." Mr Mainwaring stressed. "The British people are denying themselves many commodities to build up their export trade. We in Canada should consider ourselves fortunate that our only consideration is higher taxation in order to sustain our national economies for the future."

He said it was wrong for Canadians to think "they were extending charity" to Britain by extending her credit, and then absorb these credits after she has purchased Canadian goods.

"It must be remembered that in the process of working out those credits, Britain is creating industry here in Canada, and actually there is no resultant move of Canadian dollars to Britain," he added.

Mr. Mainwaring also emphasized the importance of British Columbia to the progress produced to the province wherever possible "to help promote and encourage the movement of capital within our own province and to place us on a much better self-sustaining basis."

He reviewed the B.C. Electric's Business Is Moving to B.C." program, and said that it had been instrumental in influencing manufacturers to invest more than $35,000,000 in new capital in the province, which provided payrolls of more than $5,000,000 a year.

From the first of January, 1946, until April 30, of this year, he added, the B.C. Electric had connected 77 industrial electrifications in the province, including wood manufacturing, fish processing, canning plants, new farm units and many others.

It is understood that Alexander Spotts, another unsuccessful candidate in the last elections, will also contest the vacant council seat, while contesting the vacant mayoralty will be A. E. Thomas. Mr. Thomas was defeated for this office in the December elections by the late Reeve R. J. Head.

Three Months To Serve For Airman

Three months at hard labor was the sentence imposed yesterday morning on Irving C. Stocker, an airman, at the conclusion of his trial in city police court on a statutory charge.

Before passing sentence, Magistrate Henry C. Hall stated that while he considered the offence to be a serious one he had taken into consideration the evidence of good character given by three members of local churches and the accused's R.C.A.F. record.

Judgment was reserved by Magistrate Hall at the conclusion of the trial of Frank James Brown, who was charged with breaking and entering Metal-Lumsden Motors, Ltd., 865 Yates Street, early Wednesday.

Evidence for the prosecution was given by Detective Louis Callan and Sgt. John Howe, of the city police. Thomas Lumsden, manager of the motor firm, and Thomas J. West, an employee of the company.

Only One Bid Is Received On Concession

Although numerous inquiries were received by the Lands Department during the last few weeks from persons and groups interested in the franchise for operation of a tourist lodge in Manning Park, only one tender for the concession was received when authorities closed bids yesterday.

The bid, submitted by Aeronautics Construction Co., Ltd., of Vancouver, was referred to the Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney.

Conditions of the franchise call for expanding development of the tourist and Winter sport resort over a five-year period, with a nominal rental to the Province of $100 a year. At the end of five years' operation, the concession terms will be reviewed in the light of business then offering.

The lodge must be ready to provide accommodation on a limited scale by the Summer of 1948, when the Hope-Princeton Highway, now under construction, is expected to be opened to the public. A minimum outlay of $50,000 on buildings and facilities is expected to be required to meet the concession specifications.

Open Meetings Of Municipal Officers' Group

Discussions of municipal problems of general administration and of application of recent amendments to provincial statutes governing cities and districts began at the Legislative Buildings yesterday when delegates to the Municipal Officers' Association of British Columbia opened their annual two-day convention.

Sessions are private, since talks are limited to operations of administration and do not touch matters of municipal policy.

J. J. Lye, Port Moody, is president of the 1947 convention, which will elect its new slate of officers today.

Yesterday's proceedings included addresses in the morning by Municipal Affairs Minister R. C. Macdonald, Mayor Percy E. George, Deputy Municipal Affairs Minister C. Bracewell-Smith and F. Robinson, deputy registrar of land titles at Victoria.

In the afternoon the conference got down to a discussion of principles and machinery of city, district and rural assessment, hearing addresses by J. Y. Gardiner, K.C., Vancouver; L. W. Hawkins, Maple Ridge, and W. F Welch, provincial assistant surveyor of taxes.

Meetings will continue this afternoon with a dinner at the Empress Hotel, where delegates will be guests of the Provincial Government under Mr MacDonald's chairmanship.

Esquimalt Court Levies Five Fines

John W. Starck, Thetis Lake Road, was fined and his driver's licence was suspended for one month when he appeared in Esquimalt police court yesterday on a charge of dangerous driving. Starck was said to have been the driver of an automobile which turned over on Admiral Road May 30, injuring Clarence Miller, 804 Hutchison Road.

Three motorists were fined $15 each for exceeding the speed limit and another was fined $5 for ignoring a stop sign.

More Tenders for Arena Are Opened

Two tenders for refrigeration equipment and installation for the Jubilee Memorial Arena were opened by the City Council yesterday and referred over to the arena committee for a recommendation.

They were from the Canadian Ice Machine Company, Vancouver, for $58,540, and the Canadian Line Company, Vancouver, for $63,207.

Members of the arena committee met with C. T. Hamilton, consulting engineer, to consider the tenders following the council meeting. It arrived at no decision.

If the lowest tender is accepted, it will bring to a total of $270,540 the sum with which the city has spent or is committed to spend on the arena out of a total of $300,000.

Approximately $75,000 has been spent for excavations, construction of footings and for architects' fees. The contract for the barrel roof and supporting columns, now under construction, amounts to $48,000.

Still to be provided for are the heating, walls and interior finishings, which city officials estimate will run well over the $70,000 remaining in the fund after the refrigeration contract is let.

Sample Survey Of Households Started Here

Dominion Bureau of Statistics yesterday started the largest sample survey of households ever carried out in Canada with a total of 56,000 households in 1,000 cities and rural areas scattered across Canada to be enumerated.

Main aim of the survey, which will take in Greater Victoria, is to obtain current estimates of the volume of employment and unemployment from interviews with a random selection of households in sample areas in each province.

Persons will be interviewed by an official representative of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics in the first three weeks of June. On the basis of the survey, which is the seventh of its kind, estimates of employments in different industries, weekly hours of work, the regional distribution of unemployment, the number of employed married women, the number of students and housewives and other useful statistics data will be obtained.

City Police Court

Stanley Tomczyk was fined $50 and his driver's licence was suspended for three months when he pleaded guilty to city police court yesterday to a charge of dangerous driving on Belleville Street early yesterday morning. Police evidence showed the accused's car had collided with a parked vehicle.

Tong Yen, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death in a traffic accident a few weeks ago of Miss Mary Emma Lee Page, was remanded until today for trial. Alan Baker appeared for the accused.

A truck driver was fined $10 for failing to have a load of sawdust properly covered while being transported over city streets.

Alaska Road Can Handle More Traffic

Facilities for motorists traversing the British Columbia section of the Alaska Highway have been built up to the point where they can now handle three or four times the traffic permitted over the road under present Government restrictions, according to James Bell of Northern Port Nelson.

Mr. Bell, representing the British Columbia section of the Alaska Highway Tourist Association, was in Victoria yesterday to discuss with Provincial Government officials the possibility of expanding travel over the highway this Summer.

While no formal revaluation of restrictions entirely this year, he pointed out that pioneers of tourist service and accommodation were not now getting enough business to warrant the expense to which they had been put to provide facilities.

Limited to essential travel by Dominion orders, automobile traffic over the British Columbia section of the highway averaged ten cars a day. Restrictions will remain in effect until the Provincial Government, satisfied that travel services and accommodation are adequate recommends to Ottawa they be thrown off.

Mr. Bell said the tourist association is recommending that a system be worked out to assist the restrictions to permit "responsible" tourists with modern cars to use the highway, up to 30 or 40 cars a day.

Wrecking recovery equipment now available can handle emergencies from two centres on the highway but could not cope with the demand that would follow unrestricted use of the road by "ancient vintage" cars, Mr. Bell said.

May Announce Road Decision

Residents of Saanichton Atlin where have long been calling for a road outlet to link their city with the Alaska Highway may be told within the week whether or not the project will be undertaken jointly by the Dominion and Provincial Governments.

Financial responsibility for construction of a 65-mile link between Atlin and the Alaska Highway falls upon no less than upon the two governments, since approximately half the length of the road would be in British Columbia and the remainder in the Yukon.

Following a survey carried out by Dominion engineers, preliminary plans for the project were received by the Provincial Works Department yesterday. These contained a total cost of $600,000, or $400,000 if standards were lowered, which would make British Columbia's consideration to a proposal that it share at least $200,000 now estimated to cost, considerably more than was originally anticipated. Government will give early issued.

Spilsbury, general manager of the company, said he hoped to secure a permit from the Department of Transport, Ottawa, to operate an air service between Port Alberni, Alberni and Vancouver. Coroner's Jury at Chemainus To Investigate Taxi Fatality CHEMAINUS, June 3—An inquest into the deaths of Mrs. Ralph Murray and Rufus Smith will be held in the Court House here at 7.30 p.m., Wednesday. William Alister is foreman of the coroner's jury.

Mrs. Murray died in Chemainus General Hospital on May 31 from injuries received the previous day when riding in Smith's taxi. It was in collision with an Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway passenger train near Chemainus. Smith died on Sunday from head and internal injuries and compound fractures to both legs.

Born at Norfolk, England, on March 11, 1879, Smith came to Canada in 1908 with his uncle, Harry Smith, who was founder and first editor of the Cowichan Leader at Duncan. Smith opened blacksmith shops at Duncan and the Mount Sicker Mine. In 1906 he purchased a blacksmith shop at Chemainus, and served the district and a number of the Gulf Islands until 1932, when the shop was destroyed by fire.

Smith rebuilt his premises as a garage, which he operated until 1939. He then organized a taxi business and small forge as a sideline, which he ran at the time of his death. He was a warden at St Michael's and All Angels' Church, Chemainus, for a number of years.

He is survived by his widow, at home, two sisters and three brothers in England, and three cousins at Dollarton. Funeral services will be held in St. Michael's and All Angels' Church, on Thursday.

Plan Inquest At Courtenay

COURTENAY, June 2—W. Spinks, coroner, will hold an inquest into the deaths of Magnus Anderson, W. A. Orr and William Brass on Wednesday. They lost their lives last Thursday when a light truck in which they were riding was struck by a runaway logging truck near Union Bay.

May Buy System At Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI, June 3. — The city of Port Alberni has been offered $10,670 for the electrical distribution system in the Army Camp by the B.C. Power Commission. The system serving the army hospital is still owned by the army.

The council felt the price was reasonable, but it was decided to withhold acceptance pending completion of data to ascertain how the Power Commission had arrived at the figure offered.

Council Declines To Buy Museum

PORT ALBERNI, June 3—Near Qualicum Beach O. Rosi has been building up a nature museum for 20 years, and found that many from Port Alberni and Alberni have been interested in his exhibits, which he stated, can scarcely be duplicated.

He offered the museum to Port Alberni for $15,000, and thought the city ought to be able to take $400 a month revenue from it.

The council will reply that it is not at present interested in entering the museum business.
